NEWS TO TRAVEL BY

Essential Philadelphia

Philadelphia is best known for its history and its endearing grit. But, it's also a major patron of science, art and the arts. If you only have limited time to make the most of this amazing city, we can show you how. This month, turn your attention to Philadelphia Zoo, where you can get a bit of the city's culture in 90 minutes.

90 MINUTES IN:

Philadelphia Zoo

Add this to the roster of city "firsts." America's first zoo is home to more than 1,300 animals, many of them rare and endangered. Among more traditional and typical animal exhibits are a few standouts: Zoo360's Big Cat Crossing, a 330-foot mesh passageway stretches overhead and allows lions, tigers, pumas and snow leopards to freely roam and explore. Likewise, there is an animal trail system for the zoo's primates. Visitors should also seek out one of the zoo's more vulnerable species, the Himalayan red pandas, and take time to inspect interesting and non-native creatures like the Andean bear and the Gila monsters. 3400 W. Girard Ave.

Get going! Explore the city at wheretraveler.com.

HOT DATES

JULY 20-AUG. 20: The Oval+

The family friendly, pop-up public space returns for its fifth season of fun. Running Wednesdays through Sundays, these eight acres of the Benjamin Franklin Parkway boast highlights like The Oval Beer Garden, power yoga and kickboxing classes, Food & Flicks Fridays with movies showing at dusk and a kids' dance party each Sunday. Committed to creating discussions about future uses of the parkway, this year's expanded event (hence the "plus") features open-air rooms where visitors can explore Fairmount Park, learn about Philly culture and document their hopes for the parkway.

6 Great Things Not to Be Missed

1 RIVER REIMAGINED: A LAND & WATER TOUR > THROUGH SEPT.

Cruise the historic Schuylkill River and tour one of Philly's first attractions, the Fairmount Water Works. Tours this month: July 13 and 27. 640 Waterworks Drive, 215.685.0723.

2 MOHAMED BOUROUSSA > THROUGH OCT. 2

See drawings, photos, costumes and sculptures by Bouroussa about stereotypes based on geographic and social spaces. The Barnes Foundation, 2025 Benjamin Franklin Parkway.

3 BACKYARD ADVENTURES > THROUGH SEPT. 9

The exhibit opens the worlds of wonder that awaits kids in their own backyards. Think bee bike rides, critter calling, dress up and more. The Academy of Natural Sciences, 1900 Benjamin Franklin Parkway, 215.299.1000.

4 BUDDY: THE BUDDY HOLLY STORY > THROUGH JULY 9

Perelman Theater hosts this delightful musical featuring the famous musician's biggest hits of the 1950s, like "That'll Be The Day" and "Peggy Sue". 300 S. Broad St., 215.893.1999.

5 WICKED > JULY 26-AUG. 27

The wildly popular Broadway Musical about two witches of Oz and what happened before Dorothy dropped in comes to the Academy of Music. 240 S. Broad St., 215.893.1999.

6 YOGA IN THE GARDEN > JULY 11-25

Make room for some zen time in your schedule with an evening Vinyasa flow at the beautiful Morris Arboretum. All levels welcome. 100 E. Northwestern Ave., 215.247.5777.

TOP SPOTS

Philly loves its festivals! Here are some top picks for July:

JULY 8-9

HISPANIC FIESTA

Penn's Landing represents Hispanic culture with this festival featuring artisan crafts and food from various Latin American countries. Music and dancing are also part of this popular immersion into Latino culture. 101 Columbus Blvd.

BASTILLE DAY

Experience the French Revolution as performed by The Bearded Ladies Cabaret troupe at this 23rd annual festival. The day includes a French Family Carnival, plenty of tastykakes to be had and French-inspired restaurant specials at local eateries after the show. Eastern State Penitentiary, 2027 Fairmount Ave., 215.236.3300.

JULY 15

SUMMERFEST LIVE!

This craft beer and music festival boasts unlimited sampling of more than 175 beers and all-day live music at XFINITY Live! Victory Beer Hall hosts fun competitions and food trucks are on site. 1100 Pattison Ave.

JULY 29

SMÖRGÅSBEER

Nothing pairs better with Swedish meatballs, cheeses and sausages than beer! And this fest has it all. American Swedish Historical Museum, 1900 Pattison Ave.

Celebrate Good Times

THE MAIN EVENT

American independence was born in Philadelphia, and more than 200 years later, it is still the place to celebrate. This year marks the 25th edition of annual summer blowout Wawa Welcome America, a six-day festival packed with appeal for locals and visitors of all ages and interests. Even better, every event is totally free for the public to enjoy.

“Each year the City of Philadelphia welcomes its residents and visitors to come together during this free, multi-day festival that commemorates our collective American history in the city where it all began,” says Philadelphia Mayor James F. Kinney.

The 2017 festival, themed “Everyone is a History Maker,” promises to be the best yet, with more than 50 blockbuster events between June 29 and July 4.

As always, the main attraction is the July 4th concert on the Benjamin Franklin Parkway, this year featuring Mary J. Blige and Philly’s own Boyz II Men against the majestic backdrop of the Philadelphia Museum of Art. And in true Independence Day fashion, the evening includes spectacular fireworks.

Side Projects

Multi-platinum musicians are far from all that Welcome America has to offer. We’ve highlighted our top recommendations to help you navigate the wide array of exciting events:

- Each day of the festival, a different Philadelphia museum offers free admission. Experience world-class cultural centers like the African American Museum in Philadelphia (July 1), The Barnes Foundation (July 2) and the National Liberty Museum (July 3).

- Stop by the Rotunda at The Shops at Liberty Place to see an astounding display of handmade sand sculptures, which will be on view all month.

- Restaurants and bars across the city are on tap to host Fourth of July-themed happy hours, as well as Sunday brunch, throughout the festival. Spots like City Tap House Logan, Moshulu and Midtown Continental serve up food, cocktails and live entertainment for all to enjoy.

- For the 21-plus crowd, on Saturday, July 1, SugarHouse Casino’s Red, White & Brew party will be a bonanza of food, music and unforgettable fireworks over the Delaware River.

- Philadelphia’s Historic District Block Party returns on Monday, July 3 with food, entertainment, art and more. The Block Party is followed by a performance by The Philly POPS in front of Independence Hall.

At the Block Party

National Liberty Museum

- At 11 am on July 4, 4,000 marchers will take to the streets in the Historic District for the patriotic Independence Day Parade.

- From noon until 7 pm on July 4, the crowd-pleasing Party on the Parkway once again delights attendees. Kids can enjoy entertainment like a performance from KIDZ BOP Kids and an obstacle course, while grownups can hang out in two beer gardens and kick back to live tunes.

Bursting In Air

In honor of its 25th anniversary, Wawa Welcome America festival features not one but four fireworks shows. No small affair, USA Today has named Wawa’s usual event one of the 10 best in the country, so this year we expect nothing short of spectacular. On June 30 and July 1 at 9:30 pm, catch crysanthemums and comets in the sky above the Delaware River Waterfront. On July 4 at 9:30 pm, two simultaneous displays launch at Benjamin Franklin Parkway and at Wiggins Park in a heart-stopping grand finale.

Steaking A Claim

Restaurateur Steve DiFillippo may not be as well known as Lidia Bastianich, Thomas Keller or Drew Nieporent, but after 30 years in the biz—and eight Davio's Northern Italian Steakhouse locations in major cities like Boston, New York, Atlanta and our own Philadelphia—we'd say he's arrived.

INTERVIEW BY LEIGH HARRINGTON

You make a living traveling the U.S., owning and operating some seriously successful restaurants. Are you living your dream?

Ever since I saw Julia Child cooking as a kid I knew I wanted to be in the restaurant business. I was surrounded by business owners like my father and uncle. My grandmother taught me how to cook. I was fortunate to get a business/marketing degree from Boston University, as well as skills in the kitchen from the chef at the Cambridge Culinary School of Arts. One of the best feelings in the world to me today is working in one of my restaurants when all the tables are full and 250 people are eating our food, laughing, and talking up a storm. It's the same happiness I knew sitting over food with my family back in the day, the same fulfilment I sought when I raced around the kitchen as a kid making something for my brother and sister, mother or father to eat.

What is it about Philadelphia that makes it a hot culinary destination?

I think it's the diversity and all the colleges. There are some great local chefs, as well as the influx of chefs and talents from other cities nearby such as NYC and DC. It's also a city full of rich culinary history. It's great to see so many new restaurants opening and thriving in this beautiful city.

What are your favorite Philly dining spots—from fine dining to dive?

I love Butcher & Singer; I just love the atmosphere and always have a good time there. I also really enjoy Rouge's burger. Steve Starr has done really well with his restaurant empire, and I enjoy any of his locations, including Continental and Parc.

What's the genesis of Davio's signature (and wildly popular) Philly cheesesteak spring rolls?

The Philly cheesesteak spring rolls came from one of our chefs who was married to a Vietnamese woman, and he would make these Philly cheesesteak spring rolls at home. He made them during staff meal one day, and they were incredible. Word got out and guests began coming in specifically for them. We brought them to our Boston and Atlanta locations, and our guests loved them. [We added them to] our permanent menus, and we've never taken them off. They also sell in 5,000 retail stores nationwide, and I am on QVC (based here in Pennsylvania) regularly.

Let's say you've got a free day to spend in Philly. What are you doing, morning jog to nightcap?

Well, when I am in Philadelphia, I am here to work but on rare day off I love running by the boathouses on the Schuylkill River. Of course, you have to climb the Rocky steps at the end of your run—how can you not? For lunch I would have a cheesesteak from Geno's. Pat's is great, too; but, I love Geno's—it's more of a preference. On a beautiful day, there is nothing better than going to a Phillies game, and then to dinner at Buddakan for its amazing edamame dumpling!

In Philadelphia, visit Davio's at 111 S. 17th St., 215.563.4810. In King of Prussia, the new Davio's Restaurant at Town Center and Davio's Galleria Bakery + Cafe serves breakfast, lunch and dinner items, as well as Nitro Cold Brew on draft and handmade gelato. 200 Main St., King of Prussia, 610.337.4810.

The Winners Are In

When the James Beard Award finalists were announced on March 15, five Philadelphians did a happy dance. Then three of them brought home medals in May. While you're in town, don't miss a meal or an experience with these culinary talents.

ZAHAV

This modern Israeli restaurant has had diners salivating over wood-fired laffa bread and creamy hummus for the last nine years, in the process putting soul to the definition of its rather fitting name (which means 'gold' in Hebrew). Chef-owner Michael Solomonov won the James Beard Award for Outstanding Chef this year; it's his fourth victory (the others for Best Chef Mid-Atlantic in 2011, and both International Cooking and Book of the Year in 2016). Everything at Zahav is special, from small plates of strawberry accented halloumi and coal-grilled sirloin skewers with baba ganoush to exclusive boutique wines from the Middle East. Zahav pastry chef Camille Cogswell challenged in the category of Rising Star Chef of the Year, while the restaurant was recognized as a finalist in the category of Outstanding Service. Foodies on a budget can visit Zahav's sister restaurant/hummusiya Dizengoff. 237 St. James Place, 215.625.8800

VEDGE

Chef-owner Rich Landau—one of two Philly-based Best Chef Mid-Atlantic 2017 finalists—has been encouraging omnivores to eat their veggies since 2011. Where? At his pretty spectacular vegetarian restaurant. Dinner may look like rutabaga fondue with soft pretzels, flash-seared pea leaves with smoked onion dashi and/or ssamjang-glazed tofu with edamame puree. Dessert is nothing less than saffron cheesecake with basil gel and rhubarb ice cream. Holy cow. 1221 Locust St., 215.320.7500

VERNICK FOOD & DRINK

Greg Vernick beat out Landau as the region's top toque in this, his third attempt at the laurel wreath. Roasted and wood-fired fare is likewise on the menu of this Rittenhouse Square bistro, but ingredients are of more meaty origins, including Amish chicken, milk-fed piglet, rack of lamb, halibut and Maryland crab. As for the 'drink' component of its name, think house-made sodas, orange wine and expert craft cocktails. 2031 Walnut St., 267.639.6644

STARR RESTAURANTS

Philadelphia completes its 2017 winners' triumvirate with Stephen Starr, the legendary and Outstanding Restaurateur known for places like Serpico, Upland, Le Coucou and, of course, Buddakan. Sip an Astronaut cocktail on the rooftop of The Continental Mid-town (1801 Chestnut St., 215.567.1800). Parc Brasserie (227 S. 18th St., 215.545.2262) has an outdoor dining space on Rittenhouse Square and honors Parisian cafe culture with soupe a l'oignon and trout amandine. Fette Sau (1208 Frankford Ave., 215.391.4888) does smoked, dry-rubbed barbecue and American whiskey on picnic tables. Starr's reach knows no bounds—and he does it all quite well. —LH

Shopping | July

Jinxed

Here you'll find, well, anything. Want some fur aviator's gloves? Jinxed has them. Need a taxidermied alligator head? Jinxed to the rescue. This one of a kind vintage store brings the flea market thrill, the presentation of a décor boutique, and an experience akin to visiting an American lifestyle museum. 4521 Baltimore Ave. 215.921.3755.

SLT

Philly's next fitness craze arrives in July and it's taking no prisoners. By combining strength training, Pilates, and cardio conditioning, SLT provides heart pounding 50-minute sessions that will leave every muscle in your body shaking with strain and satisfaction. 1625 Walnut St., 267.639.4605.

Analog Watch Co.

Nature inspires Analog Watch Co., and, in turn, this Philly based design studio seamlessly blends the natural world into every minimalist watch it puts out. This homage to nature extends beyond its range of products: A portion of each sale goes to a worthy, related cause. 1737 E. Passyunk Ave., 484.808.5831.

Music Fan

From Bruce Springsteen to The Roots, Philadelphia's music scene has a history of helping aspiring bands find their footing. If intimate live music is your thing, spend a night at (1) Milkboy and watch the best local bands get their start. If you crave a larger stage, stop by the (2) XPNential Music Festival. Hosted by the legendary Philly radio station WXPB, this festival brings rising and established acts from across the country onto one stage for three days, July 28-30. If you're into the instruments that make the music happen, head over to (3) Taylor's Music Store in West Chester to see all kinds of instruments, from banjos to bass clarinets. It's the building with the keyboard awning and there are numerous live venues around the corner.

Old Soul

Do your friends tell you that you have an old soul? If so, take a walk down the narrow cobblestone alleys of Philly's (1) Old City neighborhood. The red-brick facades stand close together, offering the feel of a bygone era. If you want to enhance your home with American antiquity, be sure to visit (2) Historic Antique Row along Pine Street. On this scenic stretch, the past comes alive across a series of vintage clothing stores, antiques shops and classic home décor storefronts. Finally, take a trip to (3) The Winterthur Museum, the former estate of Henry DuPont. A collector of American art and furniture, DuPont converted his 175-room home and massive collection into an immersive museum that allows the oldest of souls to shed their contemporary bonds.

Soloist

Whether you're in town alone for a day or you simply prefer the company of yourself, Philadelphia is rife with opportunities for an independent traveler. Get out of the commotion of Center City for a walk around the river at scenic (1) Boathouse Row where you can observe rowers practice, watch the locals in their element, and view the skyline from afar. Spend the afternoon at (2) The National Constitution Center, an exceptionally interactive history museum so engaging that you may forget there's a city of people around you. At the end of the day, grab all the sushi you need off the conveyor-belt bar at (3) Pod, an inevitably interesting Japanese restaurant whose colorful and dynamic decor is enough to keep your eyes occupied for the evening.
